OUR LADY OF RANSOM

17th March 2024 Lent 5B

Psalter Week 1

He's drowning - they screamed, urging the lifeguard to act. But he stood there watching.., then very slowly he moves out....oh so slowly! Move it - the crowd scream furiously. Then, just as the man begins to lose consciousness and starts to drown, the lifeguard swims out, strong muscular strokes, and brings the man back to shore. Spitting...gurgling... coughing... he recovers. Do the people thank the lifeguard? No. They angrily brand him a heartless idiot....He could have died... Why did you take so long before moving? You stupid thoughtless moron!

He explained....that man is much bigger and stronger than me. If I went out too soon, with his kicking and thrashing...we'd have both drowned. While he was trying to save himself, I could not save him. When he lost consciousness and stopped trying himself – it's then I could move in and save him.

Sometimes we need to feel hopelessly lost before God can move in and save us. Otherwise, it is all our own efforts. Our own determinations and will powers. While we try to do it all ourselves, we keep God out. It becomes an ego trip, for control, self-centredness, predictability,...the 'I can do it myself without any help from you' syndrome. It looks heroic. But is it really?

We cannot save ourselves. Salvation is done unto us. From beyond us. Be it done unto me according to your word... Our Lady. She knew. The prophets like Jeremiah knew.. it is the Lord who speaks. For so many others, it is the "me" who speaks.

It seems that unless we voluntarily surrender the ego cravings for control, self-centredness, for predictability, attention etc. (ie. Jesus' grain of wheat dying), God can't step in, so we remain a single grain. We become boring, mindless and repetitive. But to let go voluntarily, (can be hard!) allowing God to step in, then a rich harvest is yielded. God is now working through us. Greatness can happen.

Like with Lazarus, Jesus confronts death itself, fear, despair, panic and evil, all the ghastly filth that evil can bring, Jesus confronts it all head-on, and brings life. The dead grain of wheat will flourish and flourish into something infinitely bigger. But the grain has to die first. The ego must largely "die".

Sadly, for many, about the only thing that can de-stabilise these control-needs, ie. the seed that needs to die, is suffering. Like the man drowning, there almost has to be an "enforced" letting –go, the grain of wheat is almost forced to lose its life, it is then we either totally fall to pieces or fall into the hands of our Living, Loving God. That's when God can turn our suffering into greatness and joy.

2nd Reading: Hebrews 5: 7-9
