

OUR LADY OF RANSOM

20th September 2026 Twenty-Fifth Sunday of the Year (A) Psalter Week 1

The pistol fired. Feet pounded against the road in one thunderous roar. The town's 3-mile mini-marathon had begun. Some were running to win, others simply to take part. Whatever, everyone was to get a medal. Some were sponsored to raise money for charity. Others ran to prove to their children and grandchildren that they were still fit! Children ran to prove they were still fitter!

Approaching the last hundred meters of the race, a twelve-year-old in his track-suit bottoms joined in. He ran slower than the rest, eventually getting to the finishing line last of all, and was thrilled. Medals were handed out as planned, including the twelve-year-old. "Hold on", they cried. "He only ran a few metres; we're shattered having ran the full three miles. That's not fair". The judge told everyone to look. He rolled up the boy's trouser leg to reveal a false foot and caliper. "To you", the judge said, "a hundred metres; to this brave little lad, it could be twenty miles".

We see similar complaints in today's Gospel. "It's not fair". And humanly, it isn't. But as Isaiah says, God's ways and thoughts are not ours. God gives according to our needs. Jesus is clearly subverting the idea that God orders life based on rewards for work done. God is the generous God, and we humans find it so easy to begrudge such generosity. The labourers needed a minimum amount to live on, irrespective of the hours put in. They get it because God is generous.

The poor people will have been sick and tired of how they were exploited by the wealthy powerful landowners. The poor people know that the rich are being stingy, trying to get by with as few workers as possible in the morning. The work doesn't get done. So, they need more in the afternoon. Paying the same wage only serves to make them look generous and good-hearted, amidst their corruption. What arrogance!

So, we see the story is also about Jesus' heavy-handed criticism of the "domination system", how the rich and powerful control everything. He wants to subvert it and is calling us to be aware of the same, and act. A call to justice - social justice. Are we prepared to act – to make sure we are not just pontificating from armchairs and discussion groups!

We are called to be aware of God's generous compassion, not rewards, and of a system and society that can so often lack compassion and understanding. And do something about it. What can we do about it in practice?
